NOTES AND COMMENT.

While the municipal hospital vote is still under discussion it might not be amiss to point out that the present method of securing a vote, namely, by petition, is not satisfactory. Many people signed the petitions for a vote on representations made by the canvassers which, on investigation, proved misleading with the result that later they opposed the scheme. Under any circumstances the signing of petitions is a habit. It is so much easier to sign than to disappoint the canvasser that practically everyone signs any petition presented to them. If meetings had been held before the submission of the by-law a better understanding would have been arrived at.

A short time ago an offer received provincial papers of a review of happenings in the present session of the legislature by John McKenzie, late of Strathmore, the assurance being made that a strictly unbiased report could be had from this source for one dollar per week. The use of these reports by the U. F. A. is a fair indication of just how satisfactory Mr. McKenzie's unbiased ideas are to the powers that be. If the writer is not in the government's employ he should be.

The Dominion Labor Party is urging the adoption of the old age pension bill, which was mentioned in the speech from the throne at the opening of parliament. The plan to be advanced is that the Dominion and provinces provide the finances necessary in equal shares. While the consideration of such legislation may be a long way ahead the movement seems to be in the right direction.

The generally favorable annual reports issued by the leading Canadian Corporations, combined with the excellent position of all Statistical indices and a general increase in the volume of forward buying indicates a more encouraging outlook for Canadian business in 1926 than at any time in the past five years. The annual statements recently published by the leading industries and public utilities, with few exceptions, show an improvement in earnings over 1924.—Royal Bank Monthly Letter.

Cultures For Inoculation

In view of the fact that different types of cultures are offered for sale, some with sweeping claims, it is not surprising that farmers and growers are often at a loss to know how far success may reasonably be expected from these cultures, and just to what extent the use of cultures is endorsed by present day science.

In all agricultural soils bacteria are necessary for the best production of any crop. They play an indispensable part in the preparations of plant food.

helping to change it from an unavailable form into soluble forms capable of being used by the growing plant. It is especially in connection with the work of supplying the nitrogen requirements of the plant that bacteria are important. While certain kinds convert nitrogenous materials in the soil itself into forms which can be taken up by the plant others are able to enrich the soil and the plant by gathering nitrogen from the air which consists of 80 per cent of this element. Some of these bacteria work independently in the soil, others in association with the roots of leguminous plants, in the nodules or swelling seen on the roots of healthy plants of this type.

With the single exception of the legume bacteria, there is no indication of a scarcity of bacteria in an otherwise good soil. If a soil is deficient in bacteria, then the soil does not favor their growth due to some defect. Only when such a defect is corrected will the useful bacteria flourish so that adding bacteria other than legume bacteria will be superfluous in normal soils and a little or no avail in abnormal soils.

In the case of legume bacteria there may be an actual deficiency of these in a soil which may be remedied by inoculation. With each kind of legume are associated its own special bacteria, the presence of which is necessary in the soil, if the plant is to benefit from the supply of nitrogen in the air which the bacteria make available, and only in a limited number of cases will bacteria associated with a particular legume be of use to another. If a legume crop has been growing successfully in a short rotation, it may be assumed that nodule bacteria of the right kind are in the soil. When, however, a particular legume is being grown for the first time, or after a long lapse of years, or has not grown successfully with previous attempts, it often will be of distinct advantage to add bacteria, or in other words, to inoculate. Even such cases inoculation is not a sure remedy, for success will be most probable if other soil conditions are at their best. Legume inoculation is therefore and aid to, not a substitute for, good farming methods.

According to bookings made up to the present, flour shipments to the Orient during the next three months from the port of Vancouver will run to about 80,000 tons, practically all going to Shanghai and Dairen.

A large percentage of the 1925 crop that remains unmarketed is steadily moving to the Pacific coast, Canadian National Railway figures showing that arrivals at Vancouver from points along those lines averaged 110 cars daily during the first half of March. Total cars delivered at the western port at March 15 were 17,750, almost four times the number of cars sent to the western port during the previous entire grain season.

A recent wireless from Fort Smith, N. W. T., states a platinum deposit, said to show the richest strike ever discovered in that metal, has been found in the vicinity of Caribou Island, not more than eight miles from Fort Fitzgerald, the deposit extending along the Slave river to a short distance from Fort Chipewyan, one of the oldest forts in the north. It was discovered by a former federal surveyor, B. W. Dunne, who went in last summer prospecting.

Canada exported more goods to the United States during the year 1925 than any other country in the world. According to a report of the U. S. Department of Commerce, in the matter of purchases in the United States, Canada ranked second only to Great Britain. Canadian exports for the period reached a value of $454,702,500, while imports from the United States totalled $500,972,508.

Southern Alberta is to see a very large acreage planted to fodder corn and sweet clover this season. Farmers are already bringing in large quantities of seed for these crops. There will be several thousand acres in sweet clover, and the corn acreage, which last season was estimated at 75,000 acres, will probably surpass the 100,000 acre mark this year, for the province as a whole, with the bulk of it grown in southern Alberta.

Remarkable success has attended the various short courses held by the Department of Agriculture during the past few weeks, which is one indication of returning confidence in the rural parts. Recently large short courses for irrigators and others were held at Lethbridge and Raymond in southern Alberta, attended by from 100 to 150 at each place. The forage crop operation over C. P. R. and C. N. R. lines in the south was also very largely attended. Short courses held at Milk River, Warner and Coule, in the south, and at Irma, Stony Plain and Morinville in the north all were well attended, some points having attendances of over 300 farmers, and their wives. A series of poultry meetings has been held throughout the province, and these have been very well attended. The keenest interest has been shown in all of the subjects handled.

A TIRED FEELING IN SPRINGTIME

Not Sick, But Not Up to the Mark
You Need the Help of That Sterling Tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They Give New Vitality.

With the passing of winter many people feel weak, depressed and easily tired. The body lacks the vital force and energy pure blood alone can give. In a word, while not exactly sick, one feels as if he has been left in the lurch upon them. A blood-building, nerve-restoring tonic is needed to give renewed health and vigor. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an all-year-round health tonic and nerve tonic, but are especially useful in the spring. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red blood, and with this new blood returns strength, cheerfulness and good health quickly follow.

If you are pale, easily tired, or your complexion is poor or you are troubled with pimples or eruptions, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just what you need to put you right. You need the new blood, new strength, new energy this medicine always brings. Mrs. Emma Fraser, Thessalon, Ont., says: "Two years ago my nervous system was in such a condition that life seemed a burden. I could neither work nor eat and was in a state of nervous prostration. I tried several medicines, but did not get any relief. Indeed my condition seemed to be growing worse. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my attention and I decided to try them. After using a few boxes there was no room to doubt that they were helping me. I continued their use until I had taken eight boxes, when I was completely restored to health, and I have not a moment since had a symptom of the trouble. When I began the use of the pills I weighed only 85 pounds, while under their use with my renewed health I now weigh 125 pounds. I feel it impossible to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly."

Keep Your System Toned Up
Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, rheumatism, neuritis, indigestion or nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. De Valera Resigns
Sinn Fein Presidency
Notion Favoring Republican Slings in Both Parliaments Rejected
Eamon De Valera, Irish Republican leader, has resigned the presidency of the Sinn Féin following rejection by the Ard Fheis, or Republican General Assembly, of his motion favoring Republican representation in the Dail and Ulster Parliament.

After a two days' secret conference, the Republican General Assembly, at Ard Fheis, rejected by a vote of 223 to 218, a motion by Eamon de Valera in favor of Republican representation in the Dail and the Northern Parliament taking their seats as soon as the pact recognizing the King are removed.

The opposition, headed by Mary MacSwiney and Father O'Mahony, stood for adhering to the original abstention policy of the Republicans. Some observers of the situation predict that the defeat of the motion may prove the death blow to Mr. de Valera's influence among the Republicans.

The trouble with the present generation is that it is present everywhere but at home.

TAKE STEPS TO HALT SMUGGLING INTO CANADA

Ottawa—Tentative plans to stop smuggling into Canada were outlined in the House of Commons by Hon. J. H. Bovin, minister of customs and excise, when the estimates of his department were under consideration. While these arrangements were under his consideration, Mr. Bovin emphasized that it was his desire and intention to carry out whatever recommendations were made by the present customs inquiry committee.

The special preventive service force, he declared, which had been authorized last year under an appropriation of $250,000, was not operating satisfactorily. Forty men out of 47 now engaged would be dismissed, and a force of approximately 26 men estimated to be "fifty-five" members approximately would be allotted to Nova Scotia, 29 to New Brunswick, 10 to Prince Edward Island, 90 to Quebec, 54 to Ontario, 16 to Manitoba and 10 to British Columbia, and a certain number to Alberta and Saskatchewan.

This preventive force would not be entirely engaged in patrolling the boundary points, but would also be employed in guarding junction points. His plan also was to group two or three men at important junction points coming into Canada. An increase in the number of boats performing patrol work on the Atlantic coast would also be in his opinion, be a proper step.

Col. Coolidge Passes

Father of President of the United States Dies in His 81st Year

Plymouth, Vt.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the president, is dead.

Within two weeks of his 81st birthday, Colonel John had been steadily declining and he suffered a severe heart attack.

History reserves a separate niche for John Calvin Coolidge, for to him came the thrill, expected by no other man, of inaugurating his own son president of the United States.

At the light of a little lamp he stood, this quiet, gentle man of Vermont, and administered the oath that made his boy Calvin the nation's 29th chief executive. That was on August 2, 1923, and the time was 2:30 in the morning.

Instantly he flared into national prominence. Word went out of Plymouth that Colonel Coolidge, a justice of the peace, had administered the presidential oath on the Coolidge family Bible by the dim rays of a kerosene lamp—and his was the greatest glory a father ever knew.

Would Change System

Effort to Do Away With Cabinet Ministers Having to Seek Re-election

Ottawa—Cabinet ministers will not be required to seek re-election when accepting cabinet position, if a motion passed on the order resolution to Coolidge, Liberal, Premier, is given effect.

Mr. MacLean's proposal, for which he will ask the approval of the house, will undoubtedly cause considerable debate.

Mr. MacLean, in his motion, pointed out that the British Government, the mother of parliaments, has this session introduced a bill making it unnecessary for cabinet ministers to seek re-election when accepting cabinet positions, which has now passed the British House.

The adoption of a similar practice in Canada, he states, "will not in any way endanger the stability of our parliamentary institutions, while it will ensure Canadian desire to jealousy safeguard."

Want New Railway

Charter Will Be Asked For Line Through Red Lake District

Ottawa—Parliament will be asked at the present session to grant a charter for a railway from Quibell, Man., through the Red Lake district to a point on the Hudson Bay division of the Canadian National Railways near the Pass, Man.

The bill for incorporation is now being drafted. The name proposed for the Red Lake and Northwestern Railway Company.

Will Attend Forestry Convention Victoria—P. Z. Cavell, chief forester of the Provincial Government, will leave here on Thursday for Victoria to represent British Columbia at the first world congress on forestry in Rome, April 29 to May 6.

Prominent Financier Passes

Well-known Canadian financier and ex-President of the "Union Bank of Canada," who died at his home in Winnipeg, was W. R. Allan.

Winipeg—W. R. Allan, former president of the Union Bank of Canada, died at his home here. Mr. Allan, who was 62 years of age, had been in poor health for some time. He had been confined to his bed for several days with a threatened attack of pneumonia, and while his illness was generally known, it was not considered particularly serious. He was one of the best known of Canadian financiers.

Last Week In The Alberta Legislature

Marked Improvement In School Attendance Is Indicated By Report

Edmonton—The ranks of the Liberal opposition in the provincial house were thinned by the death of their leader, Hon. C. H. Mitchell, to the Supreme Court Bench of the province. An honor member of the Liberal party, Mr. J. C. Bowen, an Edmonton member, Mr. Bowen is in the insurance business in Edmonton. There are now nine Liberals in a house of 53 members.

Considerable time was spent in discussion of a resolution put forward by the government asking that the Dominion assist to the province the poor rights on the Spray Lakes site, with the object of the province developing power themselves, or controlling development by a private company. The Spray Lakes site is within the Banff National Park area, and for that reason there has been considerable objection to any development work there, but the government resolution stated that the work would not in any way affect the scenic beauty of the park.

An amendment was brought forward by the opposition, confined to some what similar terms to the government resolution, but calling for the ownership of the Spray Lakes site by the province.

The resolution passed by a 35-9 majority. Premier Brownlie denouncing the opposition for wasting the time of the house by an amendment almost the same as the government resolution.

A marked improvement in school attendance throughout the province is indicated by figures submitted by the minister of education, Hon. Percival Baxter. The number of children of school age who did not receive one hundred days of schooling in 1925 was 24,245, as compared with 69,641 in 1920.

School grants paid in 1925 totaled $1,192,342.47 as compared with $920,925.22 in 1920.

For some days past the house had been working on the details of new Insurance and Municipal Districts Act. The insurance act is destined to bring the law governing companies into closer conformity with similar laws in other provinces. It contains no new clauses, but there are principally non-contentious.

The Municipal Districts Act contains over 400 clauses. Most of them are also non-contentious, but discussion has arisen over these clauses which make property qualifications impracticable for municipalities and voters. Labor members point out that a man could be elected premier without property qualifications, but not to membership of a municipal council.

The other main argument was on the Indians' question, some members insisting that the government take over the care of Indians. While the minister of municipalities maintained that Indians could be more sympathetically and economically handled by local organizations.

Forming Political Colony

Winipeg—As a result of the efforts of the Canada Colonization Association, Manitoba is developing a colony of Hungarian nobility. Four families of the Hungarian nobility have purchased farms adjoining each other.

Japs Demand Apology

Formal Apology From China Is Required But No Force To Be Used
Tokyo.—The cabinet last night instructed Koki-Yoshihara, Japanese minister at Peking to demand from China a formal apology to the Japanese flag, the punishment of guilty Chinese and the indemnification of the wounded for the action of the Kuomintang (National army) troops in firing upon two Japanese destroyers in the Pei River last week when one Japanese officer was killed and several wounded.

Minister Yoshihara was instructed to negotiate the details for the carrying out of the demands and to make them as lenient as possible.

It is said that no matter whether China accepts the responsibility of not, Japan does not intend to resort to force, but if no settlement is reached, might take the matter up to the world court. It is pointed out that a friendly and peaceful result is Japan's main idea.

Should Use Empire Products

Prince Urges Britain To Purchase Canadian Timber

London.—The Prince of Wales, present at the opening of the general meeting of the Empire Forestry Association, said, considering what excellent timber of every kind and the empire produced, it seemed rather unfortunate that the United Kingdom should be dependent on foreign supplies.

Out of £46,000,000 worth of lumber imported last year, His Royal Highness said, only 12 per cent, was of empire production.

The Prince appealed to the large firms of timber, such as railway companies and builders, when placing their orders to remember that Canada produced the finest soft wood timber in the world.

BRAZILIAN VETO KEEPS GERMAN OUT OF LEAGUE

Geneva.—The assembly of the League of Nations ended its labors, the principal object for which it had been convened remained unaccomplished. Germany's election to the league has been postponed until the September session, and, necessarily, Germany has been compelled to forego the honor of a permanent seat in the league.

After ten days of negotiations, Latin maintained his decision, to veto Germany's election unless she herself was accorded a permanent seat in the council.

When the assembly met, Senator Mello Franco announced Brazil's decision and immediately "Sir Antonio Chamberlain," the British foreign secretary, proposed postponement of Germany's election until the fall.

Italy alone, of all the great powers represented permanently in the council, refrained from joining in the vote, but she herself was accorded a permanent seat in the council.

This stance of Mussolini immediately attracted the subject of comment in Geneva, when all men were plainly worried about the future of the league, because of fears that this setback would be very difficult to overcome.

The council, in secret session, immediately attacked the problem of revision of the statutes of the league. It decided upon the immediate appointment of a special commission to probe the entire problem.

BANK DEPOSITS OF MR. BISAILLON RATHER HEAVY

Ottawa.—Questions put to J. E. A. Bisailon, former chief greivance officer in Montreal, by Hon. H. H. Stevens, during the progress of the customs investigation drew protest from Oscar Gagnon, counsel for the witness.

Mr. Bisailon had testified that he had abandoned the liquor business on the threshold of April 22, 1925, and an official of the customs department, his salary had been not higher than $2,500 a year in any of the years following that date up to the time of his dismissal.

Mr. Stevens produced a record of deposits made by Mr. Bisailon in the four years, 1921 to 1924, inclusive. He asked the witness to explain how it was that, while carrying this moderate salary, he had been able to deposit $1,951 in 1921, $1,099 in 1922, $7,399 in 1923 and $11,812 in 1924.

It was at this point that Mr. Gagnon intervened. He claimed that the witness should not be required to answer such a question unless he was asked it by his own book and records. Mr. Bisailon said that the deposits referred to could be explained quite easily, but he must have time to explain his books.

"I object to this question," Mr. Gagnon said when Mr. Stevens asked for explanation of the deposits. "The question is illegal and did not come within the law of evidence."

"You are treating him as an accused person when he is here as a witness," Mr. Gagnon declared, "the question is illegal and did not come within the law of evidence."

Boom In Agriculture

Dig Development Expected In Western Canada In Next Few Years

Seattle.—Prediction that the next few years will witness the greatest agricultural development in the history of Western Canada was made here by R. C. W. Leif, Edmonton, who returning to his home in the Pacific coast states during which he visited all the large cities of California.

"Canada is the greatest market of the United States and the returning prosperity of Western Canada means a greater market."

"The farm problem in Canada has been, and is, much the same as that of the United States. Since 1915 there has been an agricultural depression that is gradually disappearing. Last year farmers on their feet and now their outlook is for an era of good times."

Wanted Conference Next Year

Canadian Government Favours 1927 For Calling Imperial Parley

Ottawa.—The Canadian Government was in favor of calling the Imperial conference in 1927 instead of next year.

This is revealed in the correspondence between the British government in London and the Government-General in Ottawa, tabled in the House of Commons.

Premier Baldwin, however, having intimated that the other dominions preferred to meet next October, and the British Government shared this view, the Canadian Government on February 19 last concurred in the proposal to call the conference for October of this year, and His Excellency cabled this decision to London.

Cannot Lower Freight Rates

Winipeg.—Hon. Charles Dunning, federal minister of railways and canals, declared here that "our freight rate problem is not so much a freight rate problem, but a problem of general adjustment and reorganization. So far as the railways are concerned, I am satisfied that they cannot at the present time do anything with a lower general return from freight rates than they are now receiving."

Mr. Dunning was speaking at a luncheon tendered him by the Young Liberal Club of this city. He was en route to Ottawa following his return by acclamation to represent the constituency of Regina in the Federal House.

At the outset, Mr. Dunning "disclaimed" any practical evidence of the fact that Canada is on the upgrade. He spoke of the depression that had followed the great boom, and expressed the hope that the economy would then would not be wasted now that the country is going ahead again.

He had received letters from a number of people stating "now is the time to get back at the east," a platitude and, generally, he said, nothing to add to previous statements of talk.

It was: "If we have been treated unjustly in the past, it is nevertheless the time to get back at the east." I don't believe it is possible to build up a united nation by repaying injustice with injustice.

It was the turn of big, broadminded people in the west to demonstrate to the east that the two were not enemies in the country as stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific when it came to solving problems he added.

Financial Standing Is Good
Hall Insurance Board of Alberta Has Successful Year

Calgary.—At a annual meeting of the Hall Insurance Board of Alberta here the directors' report stated that the financial standing of the board was stronger than ever. Mr. J. H. Toivell, president of the board, stated that the hall's business in the year, entirely disappeared. The reserve fund and surplus was $700,414.55. The total risk capital was $10,824,214, which was approximately 50 per cent greater than the risk of the previous year.

Excited Over Cost Find Simpson
Vancouver.—A special dispatch to the Province from Prince Rupert, B.C., stated:

"There is intense excitement at Port Simpson, where the Indians have discovered an outcropping of coal on the coast. The whole property has been staked and steps taken to record it. No work on it has yet been done, but the Indians are very hopeful. The whole of the United Church Mission property is included in the blocked out area."

Port Simpson is on the British Columbia coast at the mouth of the Skeena River, south of Prince Rupert.

Bay Line Motions Dropped
Ottawa.—Two proposed resolutions supporting the immediate construction of the Hudson Bay Railway, and passed on the order paper by Progressive members, were dropped in the house at the request of their sponsors, who said they were not wanted.

The resolutions had been proposed by John Miller (Progressive, Qu'Appelle), and John Evans (Progressive, New Brunswick).

CHAPTER I.

"Be good, little girls! Don't have your noses and put on smiles. Good Morning is coming!"

It was a wonderfully sweet voice, and solemn. But there was the flavor of a laugh hidden in the mock solemnity. That was a trick of Joanna. She had adopted it from someone Joanna adopted all tricks of manner that promised to be successful additions to her own original store of them.

Obediently, the young women who flanked Joanna behind the silk counter dignity of a long tailed coat, and tremendously impressed by his responsibilities as arbiter of the world's events and, incidentally, the outcast, the buyer who rules the destinies of the silk department. Promptly at ten o'clock each morning The Slapper appeared at nine. Mr. Harkness, freshly muffled, tapped his fingers on the spread of the silk counter, encompassed each of the young women behind it with a friendly condescending glance, and said to them collectively:

"Good Morning!"

There was much rivalry among the the silk counter unnoticed. Eyes started. Blank faces turned upon the startled girl. And she stared into the furious face of the man across the counter as if he had woken her in some evil spell.

Mr. Harkness was no longer, "Mr. Good Morning." He was an ogre; the sort of a tyrant and beast there, Joanna's summons. He stood there, cold, immovable, piercing, waiting for Joanna, Joanna of the gold brown hair that had watched him in the unbroken of bidding.

For, so far as the record was remembered at the silk counter, no other silk employee had been summoned into the awful presence of the "Old Man." It seemed but one thing. The thin sharp street she Joanna's mind almost instantly. She had offended a customer; unconsciously, perhaps, but offended one; and an important customer: one who had the ear of the mysterious, unapproachable, thoroughly unknown "Old Man." And the most disastrous.

The buyer's fingers began to drum, warningly, on the counter. A summons to the office brooked no delays. He didn't know what he knew the Old Man so much as know the name of the unimportant Joanna who, despite that gold brown hair and the capital pose, was after all just "Number 27 in the silks." Graydon, owner of the city's largest department store, was not the sort who knew certain ones of his hundreds of young women clerks by name. A few of the managers were that sort; not Graydon.

"I believe I said, once, 'Miss Twenty-seven,' Mr. Harkness repeated, idly. 'I should advise that you missed me, as mentioned Joanna. And then he added the afterthought that brought quiver to the grotesquely scarred lips: the quiver that the girl bit at and repressed violently. "I fancy Miss, that the other young ladies will conduct the counter satisfactorily until my return from your interview."

Joanna could have choked him for that. Even in her trouble she remembered the different tone of his voice on the different light in the eyes him on the morning of the day before when she flushed under his fawning. He knew, she reflected, that she was going up to the tanning dignity of being dismissed by the owner. His code demanded that he have no conversation for even such a minor offense. If she were to "go into the owner's black book. But Joanna was Joanna. "So sweet of Mr. Graydon to tell you along for me," she murmured. "We were discussing you just last evening, you know—Mr. Graydon. I. I was telling him what a little girl you are—and shall you run along now, or shall you show me the way now?"

If she was going to be discharged, she'd leave behind her something to be remembered by. She'd waited long time to shoot something like this at the old man, Joanna reflected. "I am glad," she glared in the smothered snarl which choked in the throat of the girl next her.

"You 27. Did the Old—Did Mr. Graydon want to ask my advice about the business today?"

The secretary ignored the affectation.

"Oh, so you are Joanna?" she said simply.

"Yes, that's me. Graydon sent me to you—your name is Joanna, isn't it? I don't know what it is, but I'm sure it's important. I'll tell him your waiting."

Joanna, urged by the secretary,

Medical Testimony

The definite decision by eminent medical authorities that cancer is caused by dietetic errors common to our civilization is of vital importance to sufferers from this disease.

The necessity for including in the dietary regular quantities of uncooked fruit and vegetables is indisputable. The process of cooking robs them of their valuable salts. The new method of treatment, therefore, of giving patients regular quantities of the sustainable "Cell Food," and placing them on a diet which is rich in potassium in its natural condition.

The results are proving so highly successful that medical men are recommending or advising it on behalf of their patients. The following are some of the letters from patients who are recovering from cancer.

Oct. 2, 1924, Colchester, Ontario. "Having been 'Cancerous' on a patient, commencing July last, I was surprised to learn from the doctor that I was cured. I am now healthy, with frequent pain, have almost vanished. Please send me an 'Cancerous' treatment, for which I am grateful."

Yours faithfully,
Dr. H. W. L. L. C. S.

A FREE BOOK, fully explaining the above treatment, has been written for sufferers or any one interested in this most successful method of fighting "The Cancer Disease." Applications for this book should be addressed to Charles Walter, 51 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, Canada, or to the Canadian and U.S.A. representative, The Cancerous Co., England.

Some Of Nature's Puzzles

Many Things That Evidently Have No Explanation

Nature is full of puzzles. We have discovered nature and the use of X-rays, yet it is not known how or why a whip makes a noise when cracked.

What cracks—the whip or the air? If a man wants light he must first make heat, yet a glow-worm or a firefly, deep sea fish and many plants and fungi, produce a cold light. Carnivorous animals are frequently striped, spotted, and mottled, but the mild grain or grass eater is seldom so marked.

Why is this? Again, there are no blue moths, nor has there been a blue rose. And why is a purple blossom so common to poisonous plants? If you put a lit tile salt in water it dissolves. But the water away and the salt reappears. What then has become of the salt while it is dissolved in the water?

The water, it would seem, dissolves the salts into particles highly charged with electricity. For this reason, we have the authority of Professor Ira Newson, who adds that other substances dissolved in water do not act like salt.

"Blackback was the bane of my life, and for a year I was no name at all to be mentioned," writes E. S. Sloane. "While in Smith Town, I heard of Nervine. I bought it and tried it. It did me good. I bought it and tried it. It did me good. I bought it and tried it. It did me good."

A Salve which Releases Medicated Vapors when Applied Over Throat and Chest.

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

There are a few hard souls that can struggle on stony soil, shrubs and weeds for the dew and sunbeams, vines that will climb without kindly training—but only a few. ## Russian Nobility Among Workers

In Many Trades Refusing Are Pursuing

Trades In Germany

Germany has perhaps more than any other country the strange and odd results of the Russian revolution are seen. Many noble refugees from the aristocracy are operating businesses and pursuing trades in Germany, and it is not unusual to see a taxi driver drop into a certain coffee house and suddenly sighting another shabby diner in the corner, go over and kiss her hand. She is a grand duchess and her ex-husband was an Imperial guard. The coffee house itself is operated by a former count and his children.

Poultry Post Station
That a co-operative poultry station is to be opened in this city was decided at the annual meeting of the Manitoba Co-operative Poultry Marketing Association held in its city.

The meeting was attended by about 15 delegates from various locals of the association throughout the province and interesting reports as to progress made by the poultry and egg pools were presented.

Alberta's Coal Production
The total coal production from the mines of Alberta during the past year amounted to 5,532,294 tons, or 67.9 per cent more than the total for the preceding year. Last year's figures were made up as follows: bituminous, 5,163,259 tons; sub-bituminous, 581,835; and lignite, 2,145,200.

Hard and soft coals both hold to Holloway's Corn Remover, which is entirely safe to use and certain satisfactory in its action.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION FOR MRS. PENN

She Escaped It by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Windsor, Ont.—"After the birth of my first baby I was very much run-down in health and the doctor said I must have an operation as I was suffering from a displacement. A friend wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it steadily for a year. During this time I was carrying my second baby and felt real well all the time and did not have a day's confinement. I feel sure the Vegetable Compound did me a lot of good, and all my people do, too. The sister in Leamington, Ontario, takes it, and both sisters praise it as a good medicine. I am more than pleased with the result."—Mrs. W. Penn, Windsor, Ontario.

Mrs. Corbin Relieved from Pain Stewiack, N.S.—"I had pain in my back and in my side for two years after my first baby was born. My mother had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read about it in the paper. I took it and the pains all left me. I have a family of three children now and the medicine helped me during the months before they were born. I recommend it to my mother. I am sure it will help you. Write to Mrs. C. W. Corbin, Main Street, Seaside, Nova Scotia."

The Department of Animal Husbandry of the University of Alberta is arranging to stage the annual "Feeders Day" this year on April 10. This is the last day of the Edmonton Spring Show and it is being held at this time in order to give fair visitors an opportunity to take in this event at the University. The results of the feeding trials conducted during the past year in which 80 steers, 320 hogs and 20 dairy cows have been used will be presented and discussed. The interesting feature in connection with the days programme will be the fact that those in attendance will have an opportunity of inspecting the animals and on this basis decide the relative merits of the different rations used.
"Feeders Day" has now become an established event at the University of Alberta and the increased attendance each year indicates that this is a very satisfactory method of giving publicity to the results of livestock experimental work.

Spring work on the land is general throughout the extreme southern part of the province, where the weather has been warm and spring-like for some weeks, and where there has been practically no snow throughout the winter.

New Railways For Alberta

That 182 miles of new railway lines were completed and opened for operation in Alberta during the year 1923 is one of the interesting statements in the annual report of the provincial department of railways, tabled in the legislature Thursday afternoon.

The report states this is the largest annual increase since the year 1915 in the transportation line. Of the additional mileage, 111 miles was constructed by the Canadian National Railways, 67 miles by the Canadian
